Discover Eastern

You've made your decision to come to college — or maybe to come back. It's an exciting decision because now you're on your way. What you do five or ten years from now will depend on your education. And you're asking questions: What college is best for me? Where will my studies take me? What do I have to study? Can I shape my own program for my special plans? How much does quality education cost? Will I find friends and fun, an active campus life — that memories are made of?

Eastern Washington University can be your best answer. Eastern offers quality, career planning, and campus life to help you start your solid future.

Eastern has a lot to offer

- A strong liberal arts curriculum offering 84 majors in academic disciplines and interdisciplinary programs
- An emphasis on professional programs which prepare students for careers in business, industry, health services and community affairs
- An outstanding program of teacher preparation which has won national recognition for developing and testing new classroom methodology
- A career planning and placement office that helps students determine their goals and priorities toward a fulfilling career
- An outstanding faculty which is interested in you as a person
- The vibrant cultural environment, the service agencies and the internship-laboratory potential of metropolitan Spokane and eastern Washington

Eastern . . . new programs and new ways to start you on your career . . .

... the emphasis is on teaching and students. This means that you have a chance to get acquainted with your instructor, both in the classroom and in office discussions ...

Eastern will be 100 years old in 1990. Eastern's tradition of learning and concern for its students is just about as old. EWU's faculty members are known for research and scholarship; yet they teach at Eastern instead of a larger, less personal university. Because they care about students, the faculty make Eastern's classrooms exciting places for learning.

At Eastern, you'll fill out student evaluations of professors, because our faculty want to be sure they're reaching you. Last year, the average faculty rating by students was 2.3, the high on the scale of 1 to 6 would be 1.

You'll find Eastern's faculty ready to help you outside the classroom, explaining a point you missed, advising on career possibilities, helping you plan your college program. You'll get answers to your questions.

At Eastern, you're an important person.

The Campus

Eastern combines the warmth of small-town living with city variety. At Eastern, you can hop on the Magic Bus for 50 cents and be in Spokane in less than half an hour.

Cheney, amid pleasantly rolling hills and farmlands, is an ideal university town. Its population of 7,000 is about the same as Eastern's enrollment. It's small enough to make you feel part of the community, as well as of the University. Local merchants, Eastern's Associated Students and the City of Cheney often plan events cooperatively. There's a hassle-free, friendly atmosphere and plenty of on-campus action: concerts, plays, movies, meetings and parties. With metropolitan Spokane nearby, you've got the best of both worlds.

Campus Facilities

Visitors from the East say EWU's campus reminds them of a New England college. Acres of grass, trees, fine old buildings and exciting modern architecture blended to create a beautiful campus of 335 acres. You'll find top quality modern laboratories in art, biology, chemistry, drama, dental hygiene, education, foreign languages, geology, industrial technology, geography, physics, psychology, office machines, home economics and music. The University also has a planetarium, rifle range, greenhouse and primate lab. Eastern's laboratory for ecological studies at the nearby 17,000-acre Turnbull Wildlife Refuge enables faculty and students to conduct extensive research in both animal and plant sciences.

The John F. Kennedy Memorial Library is the academic resource center, as well as a recreational reading center. It houses nearly 500,000 items of information, including volumes, pamphlets and microfiche, and receives more than 3,000 current journals, magazines and newspapers. The library is designed to provide ideal facilities for research and study, including typing and group-study rooms. The computer center, located in the lower level of the library, serves as a laboratory for study in computer science. It also provides computer services for faculty, students and administrators.

The Robert Reid Campus Laboratory School provides experience for college students majoring or minoring in speech, psychology, library science, music, art, physical education, foreign language, social science, education and related fields. This unique facility is one of the few laboratory schools in the nation. It provides an excellent opportunity to gain first-hand knowledge and experience through the integration of practical training and classroom study.

The recreational facilities at Eastern are excellent. The physical education complex has been designed for the total university community. Students use the raquetball, handball and squash courts, the indoor and outdoor tennis courts, volleyball courts and track facilities, the men's and women's saunas, the weight room and the wrestling room. Separate facilities for basketball, dance and gymnastics all complement one of the finest recreational complexes available on a university campus. The Special Events Pavilion seats 5,000 and houses concerts, basketball games, wrestling tournaments and other events.

The campus is extensive, yet not too large. You can easily walk from one building or area to another in a short time. Parking areas on the periphery of the campus allow commuter students convenient access to the classroom buildings, the library and other areas of interest.

Eastern provides the comprehensive facilities you would expect of a large university, while maintaining a personal, friendly touch. This combination is a prime source of student satisfaction at Eastern.

Facts and Figures

Approximately half of Eastern's 7,000 students transferred from other colleges. The entering freshman class usually numbers about 1,100 students, evenly divided between men and women, and includes students from a wide range of backgrounds.

Of all Spokane County students who attend four-year colleges, 45% enroll at Eastern. In addition, our students come from many parts of the United States and from about 20 different countries.

Eastern offers 84 undergraduate majors, and many other special-interest programs. Students, with faculty assistance, may even design their own individual programs in some areas. Eastern students receive individual attention from faculty who are personally committed to each student's academic progress. The faculty is professional and qualified — more than 70% have earned doctorates in their fields. While this level of accomplishment is vital to a successful university, you can be assured that your professor's primary interest is direct involvement with you in scholarly activity. Classes generally are small, averaging between 25 to 45 students. Academic advising is available in the Office of Admissions or, as appropriate, in the Central Advising Office or in individual academic departments.

The Academic Year

Eastern follows a quarter system schedule. The Fall quarter begins in mid-September and ends in mid-December. Winter quarter is scheduled from January through mid-March. After a week of vacation the Spring term begins in late March and ends in early June. The Summer quarter allows students to enroll in coursework from mid-June to mid-August. Both day and evening classes are available throughout the academic year to enable you to plan your courses according to your individual needs and time schedule.

Student Life

"Got a ticket for the concert?"

Students from neighboring colleges in Spokane come to our campus for concerts, dances and parties at Eastern.

In recent months, EWU has hosted appearances by George Benson, John Klemmer, The Marshall Tucker Band and other top performers. Campus speakers are frequent; Julian Bond, John Dean, Eugene McCarthy and others were here last year. Various state and regional government officials make it a point to stop in at Eastern during their travels. It's not unusual to find a legislator, the attorney general or even the governor in your classroom.

At Eastern, it's easy to get involved. In fact, there are nearly 100 recognized clubs or groups for your social, service, political, religious, or special interest activities. Student committees sponsor movies, concerts, dances lecture series and other events throughout the year.

A wide variety of athletic activities and intramural sports for both men and women supplement an already busy intercollegiate athletic schedule. The area around Cheney offers ample opportunity for swimming, sailing, hiking, camping, hunting, fishing, snow skiing and other sporting events as well.

On campus, several departments in the School of Fine Arts provide a wide variety of cultural events for both students and the general public. The Eastern Washington Gallery of Art, the Pence Gallery, and the Grande Photography Room hold continuing art exhibits by local, regional and national artists. Drama productions take place regularly in the University Theatre. The music department presents concerts and recitals, as well as the musical theater and opera productions. Performers include music department faculty, student soloists and ensembles, and visiting performing artists.

Student life at Eastern is not a pretend world or simply a way to practice for later life. A caring community helps you process your thoughts, your ideas, your successes, your failures. An honest attempt is made by the University to be an agent in the growth process, while at the same time allowing you to be fully responsible for your own planning and activity.

Housing and Residence Life

The best way to be a part of student life is to live on campus. Living in the residence halls or in the family housing complex is convenient, economical, and a great way to make new friends. Eastern has five modern, well-equipped residence halls housing about 1800 students.

Rooms, which are designed for two students, have built-in desks, beds, and ample closet and drawer space. Each floor has a kitchenette with oven, hot plate and sink. In most halls, women and men live on alternate floors, and recreation facilities on the ground floor are for everyone. Residence halls are equipped with washers and dryers, study rooms, game rooms, TV rooms, formal and informal lounges, and have outside recreational facilities near each hall. Some dorms have music practice rooms, universal gyms for weight training and outdoor terraces off each lounge. Academic buildings, Pence Union Building, Kennedy Library, the bookstore, Tawanka Commons (dining hall) and the athletic facilities are all within easy walking distance of the residence halls.

On-campus students become part of a close-knit community. You are involved in your own residence government and plan your own social activities. You work closely with trained, professional residence hall supervisors who devote their full time and effort to promote a positive experience for you at Eastern.

Commuters: Students on the move

About half the students who attend Eastern commute from Spokane or the surrounding region. The campus, just 16 miles by freeway from downtown Spokane, is accessible by car or by the convenient Magic Bus service.

Between class sessions, students spend most of their time in the Pence Union Building. The PUB has lounge areas, a game room, snack bar, Sandwich Hut, post office, travel agency, meeting rooms and offices, all designed for student use.

As a student, you become part of the campus scene, whether you live on-campus, walk from your apartment in Cheney, or commute from the surrounding area. While the buildings and their setting are important, the campus is its people.

... the campus is its people

Financial Planning and Costs

With Eastern's outstanding facilities and academic programs, a student-teacher ratio of just 21 to 1, and a comparable emphasis on student services, you might expect that the costs would be high. However, most state four-year institutions in Washington have relatively the same tuition charges, somewhat higher than the two-year community colleges, much lower than private schools, and usually less than comparable colleges in other regions.

Tuition and fees
 *Board and room
 *Books and Supplies
 *Miscellaneous

Expenses 1978-79

Washington Resident		Out-of-State
Per Quarter	Per Year	Per Quarter	Per Year
$ 206	$ 618	$ 661	$1983
436	1308	436	1308
70	210	70	210
200	600	200	600

*While tuition and fees are fixed expenses, all other figures may vary according to your needs. For students moving on campus in Fall quarter, rates for double rooms are $466 for Fall, $436 for Winter, and $406 for Spring. Students moving into the residence halls in Winter or Spring pay the average quarterly rate of $436 per quarter. Each of the rates includes the full meal service.

A few single rooms are available on a first-come, first-served basis. Single-room rates are about $45 to $85 extra per quarter. Room and board rates do not include charges for periods between quarters, but rooms may be rented during interim periods. Married Student Court is available for $70 per month, which does not include meal service.

The cost of books, supplies, and miscellaneous personal expenses will vary from student to student. The above figures may be high for some, low for others. You can be sure, though, that Eastern is determined to provide the best educational value available.

Financial Assistance

More than one third of EWU students receive financial aid through a combination of federal, state, and institutional loans, scholarships and work-study programs. The financial aid staff provides counseling for students who feel they need additional financial resources to attend college. The staff strives to meet your financial needs by individually evaluating your unique financial and personal situation and developing an aid "package" of any one or a combination of the various forms of financial funds available.

The majority of students at Eastern hold part-time jobs. Eastern's Career Planning and Placement office can help you.

Eastern Washington University wants you to take your education seriously. Prior academic experiences and an evaluation of individual goals determine your admissions status.

Entry from High School

Washington State high school students may apply by obtaining the Uniform Undergraduate Application for Admission to Four-Year Colleges and Universities in the State of Washington from their high school or from Eastern's Office of Admissions. Out-of-State applicants must obtain the application from Eastern.

Section One of the application should be filled out and the entire application submitted to the high school counselor or principal, who will complete Section Two and forward the application and transcript to Eastern.

Students may apply as early as December 1 for admission to the following fall quarter. If your grades average 2.50 or above, or if you are in the upper half of your graduating class, you need only submit the application and high school record. If your grades average under 2.50, you should include other evidence of potential for college success. This includes appropriate testing results, recommendations and a personal letter stating the reasons you feel admission to Eastern should be granted. The University may also request grades for the first term of your senior year.

Entry as a Special High School Student

Above-average students still attending high school may, with their principal's approval, enroll as special students for courses not available at the high school. Summer classes are available for high school juniors and seniors.

Entry as an Adult

Applicants who have been out of high school for several years and have not attended college should submit Section One of the application to Eastern's Office of Admissions. You should ask that your former high school send an official transcript to the University.

Adult applicants who have not been graduated from high school but have passed the G.E.D. exam with an average of at least 45 are eligible for admission.

Admissions

Putting It All Together

Transfer Admission Requirements

Transfer applicants with 16 or more acceptable credits from a regionally-accredited college and a grade-point average of 2.00 or above will be admitted if in good academic standing at the last institution attended. If you have earned fewer than 16 credits, you must also provide a high school transcript. A maximum of 90 quarter credits from a two-year college may be applied to the minimum 180 required for Eastern's baccalaureate degree. All transcripts must be sent at your request, directly from each school or college you attended to Eastern's Office of Admissions. Personal copies cannot be used as official documents.

Associate Degree Requirements

Eastern has associate degree transfer agreements with all Washington community colleges and with North Idaho College. These agreements provide for satisfaction of general requirements and junior standing for those who hold the appropriate degree. You should check with your community college transfer adviser or the EWU Office of Admissions for the specific community college degrees which fulfill the above requirements. Students who transfer from Washington community colleges without the appropriate degree will be evaluated on a course-by-course basis for both total credits and general University requirement equivalents, according to Eastern's regulations.

Admission and Advising:

1. Complete section one of Washington Uniform Application for Admission. High School applicants should leave the entire form with high school counselor to be completed and forwarded directly to the Office of Admissions. Transfer applicants should send the application directly to EWU.

- a. Have official high school transcript sent if entering as freshman (or transfer with less than 16 quarter hours.)

- b. Transfer students have complete official transcripts sent from each previously attended collegiate institution.

2. Receive offer of admission, along with request for $50 advance tuition deposit.

3. Receive informational mailings about EWU and specific academic department mailings (throughout this process).

4. Submit $50 advance tuition deposit.

5. Receive notice of final admission and information regarding advising and orientation sessions.

6. Attend advising and orientation sessions, request courses, register.

7. Pay fees, pick up final schedule, purchase books, begin classes.

Financial Aid:

1. Submit EWU application for financial aid.
2. Submit Financial Aid form (FAF) to College Scholarship Service, Box 380, Berkeley, CA 94701.
 - a. Approximately six weeks after the FAF is submitted, a Student Eligibility Report (SER) will be returned to students from the Basic Grants Division in Iowa City. All three copies of the SER should be submitted to the EWU Financial Aid Office.
3. Notice of financial aid package will be sent to you upon receipt of above items.
4. You must respond (accept or reject the award package) by notifying the Financial Aid Office within 10 days of the receipt of the award letter.
5. Confirm award package (sign or pick up checks) beginning the second day of classes.

(Necessary forms are available upon request from EWU Financial Aid Office or local counseling offices.)

Housing:

1. Inquire directly for information from EWU Housing Office, or return housing information reply card which is sent to you in the admissions information packet.
2. Submit EWU Housing application, accompanied by a $40 housing deposit fee.
3. Notification of residence hall assignment is sent to you just prior to the beginning of the appropriate quarter.
4. Residence halls open one day before classes begin, with meal service beginning the first day of classes.

Student Employment

1. Available positions are posted in the Student Employment Office.
2. You may seek individual positions upon arrival at the beginning of the term.

Equal Opportunity Statement

It is the policy of the University that no discrimination on the grounds of race, color, religion, sex, age, or national origin will exist in any area of the University. The policy states that EWU has both a moral and a legal responsibility to eliminate discrimination among students and on all employment levels. Major efforts have been and are continuing to be made to make facilities, education and employment available to those with handicaps; physical, sensory or mental.

Accreditation

Eastern is accredited by the Northwest Association for the teaching of the liberal arts and teacher education. The National Council for the Accreditation of Teacher Education and the Washington State Board of Education have accredited and fully approved Eastern's program of teacher education. The University is also accredited by the American Assembly of Collegiate Schools of Business; the Council on Dental Education of the American Dental Association; the National Association of Schools of Music; and the National League for Nursing; the School of Social Work and Human Services is a member of the Council on Social Work Education and is accredited.

The University has institutional membership in various national organizations. The University is approved by the United States Attorney General for non-quota immigrant students. It is also on the approved list of the American Association of University Women.

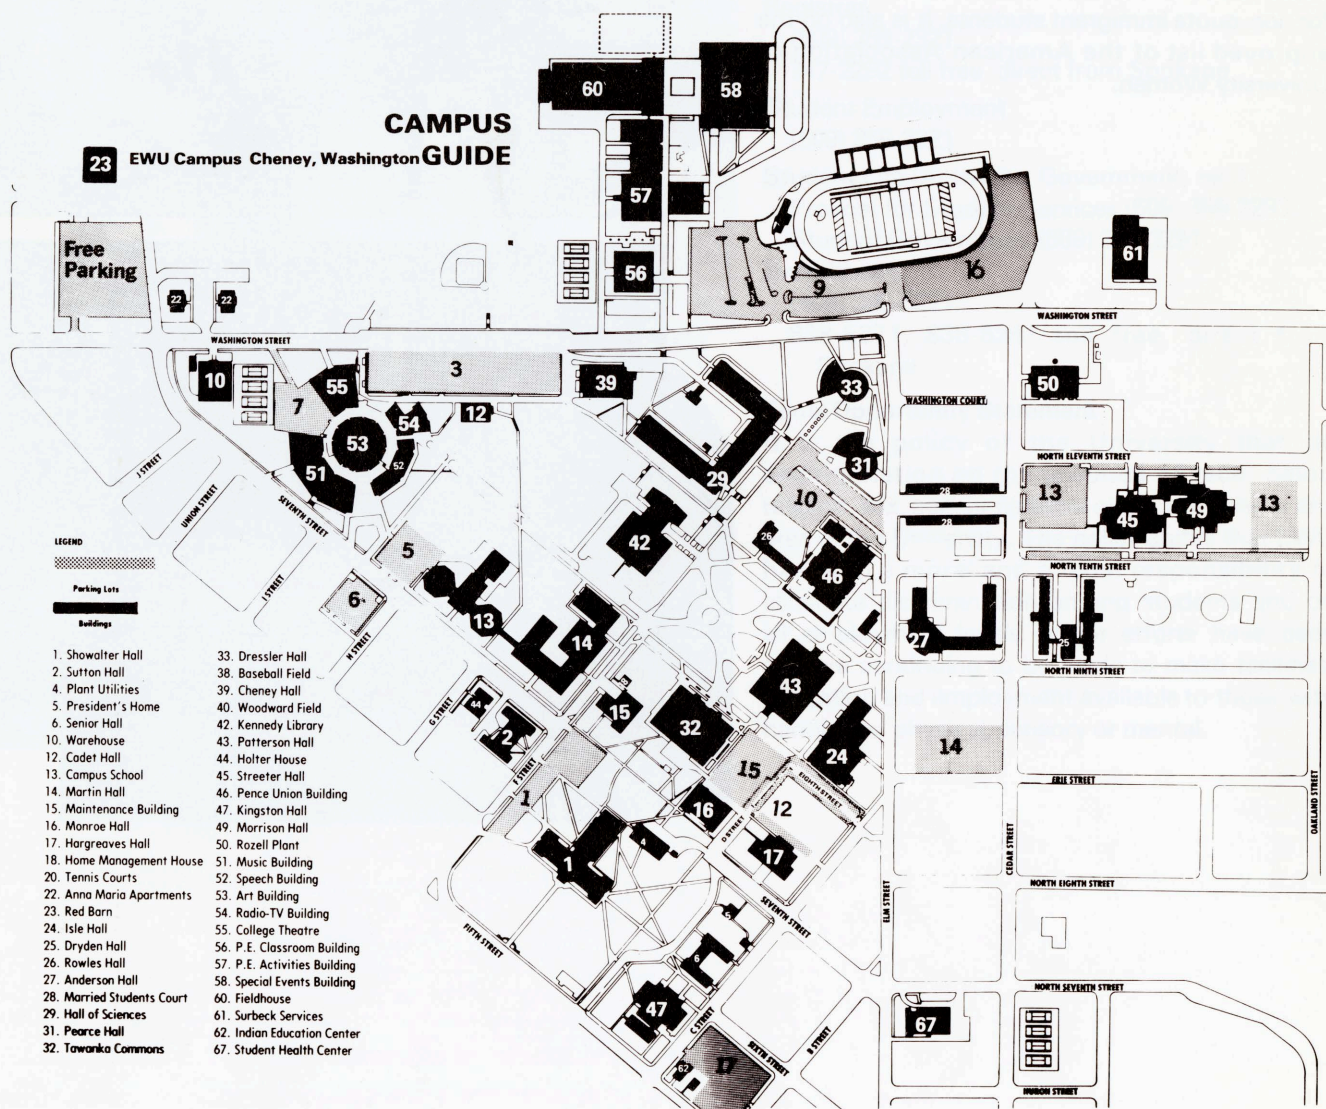

Campus Visits:

We encourage you to visit the EWU campus, especially if you have never been here, or if you have not visited recently. A campus visit will give you an opportunity to have specific questions answered, to talk with students and professors in your academic areas of interest, to experience the varied student activities, to observe the facilities and—in short—to discover Eastern.

Whether for a short tour or an overnight stay, you're welcome to visit. The best time to come is when classes are in session so you can get an accurate picture of what Eastern is all about. The Office of Admissions is open weekdays from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. and is happy to make specific arrangements for all aspects of your visit. We look forward to seeing you.
